Fort Dampings.

The Newport Mercury.

John P. Samsbury, Editor and Proprietor.
SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1886.

The tables turned. An embarking Montreal bank clerk has skipped to Boston. He will help make up for the population of the kind we have sent to Canada.

The New York World is frankly of the opinion that unless the President wants to lose his own state he must "strengthen the party that elected him and not the temporary allies."

Now this is too bad. The New York World accuses the New York Evening Post of not telling the truth. Brother Democrats should live together in harmony.

It is said that the Democrats offered one Republican member of the Illinois legislature $20,000 to stay away from the Capitol the day Senator Logan was elected.

The war cloud is still visible in the East. Russia delays the Afghan settlement and meanwhile keeps up her preparations for war. The contest will have to come before long.

Our Pawtucket friends are happy. They have got the Lieutenant Governor and hence have virtually a Republican and a Democratic Senator from that town, which is more than any other town in the State can boast of.

Hon. William A. Harris of Providence gave a reception to the outgoing and incoming governors and their ladies, Wednesday evening. There were some eight hundred persons present and the affair was a brilliant success.

The Washington Agricultural Society, have issued their premium list for the fair which is to be held September 10 and 17, 1886. The list presents a number of new attractions for the coming fair.

"Professor" Odum, a foolhardy man like Captain Webb, jumped from the Brooklyn Bridge Monday and died soon after he was taken from the water. Perhaps some other crank will try the job soon.

One of President Cleveland's consuls has been arrested for debt. Warren Greene of Kentucky, another of the celebrated blue grass statesmen, was arrested for a debt of $178 just as he was about to start for Japan.

Ex-Secretary Frelinghuysen died at his residence in Newark N. J. Wednesday, after a long illness. He had held many offices of trust both under the state and National governments. He was President Arthur's secretary of state.

When President Grant some years ago appointed the Rev. Mr. Newman Inspector of consulates there was a howl from the Democratic press all over the land. When President Cleveland appoints the son of Senator Vest Inspector of Consulates not a sound is heard from either Democratic or Mugwump press. Things have changed.

It is amusing to see with what unanimity the mugwump papers unite in praising Senator Logan now that he has been re-elected. There is not one of the number but that now thinks, or pretends to think, him a hero. When he was a candidate for the Vice Presidency he was "Black Jack" Logan, the vilest of the vile. Many of this grade of time-serving sheeps abused him more than they did Blaine, if such a thing were possible.

The long Senatorial contest in Illinois was terminated Tuesday by the choice of Senator John A. Logan. He received 103 votes, every Republican member voting for him. His election is a grand victory for the old war horse of the West, and is a victory which is well deserved. His election assures a good working majority in the Senate for the Republicans for the next two years at least.

An exchange says: At the meeting of the R. I. democratic state central committee held last Friday, the various positions in this State at the disposal of President Cleveland were allotted to certain individuals whom the committee deemed to be the most worthy of them, and the result of this committee's deliberations, it is understood, has already been communicated to President Cleveland by gentlemen especially appointed for that purpose.

On Tuesday next the state government of Rhode Island, for the coming political year, will be inaugurated. In the Senate this year, there will be sixteen new members out of thirty-five, and in the house there are forty-five new members out of seventy-two. There will probably be no contest over the organization of either branch. The old and efficient clerks of both bodies will be re-elected without opposition and as there is but one candidate for the speaker of the house, Mr. Ellery H. Wilson of East Providence, it will not take long to put things in running order. There is considerable business on the docket to be attended to at this session. And among other things an unusual number of charters to be granted.

Another case of "offensive partisanship" has just occurred. If reports be true, Capt. John Waters is to succeed William G. Caswell as assistant superintendent of Life Saving Stations. Of course there is no objection to Capt. Waters on the score of fitness, but if we remember correctly Capt. Waters is something of a politician, a member of both the city and state Democratic Committees, etc. Of course he will resign all these now, give up politics entirely, and devote his time to drilling his crews in the launching of life boats, etc. By the way, we believe the office he is to have is one of the few where there is little work, no responsibility and considerable pay. We congratulate the Captain on his success.

A Reply To Captain Boyton's Ex-plaint.

A despatch from Halifax says Admiral Sir John Comberford has been very much exasperated by the publicity given to Captain Boyton's exploit in sinking a torpedo to the gambol-Garnet while lying in New York harbor, and was especially chagrined at the fact that Captain Hand made no report to him of the affair. The first intimation Admiral Comberford had of it was by reading the account given by a New York paper. He thereupon telegraphed Captain Hand to immediately return to Halifax. Hence the General's sudden and mysterious departure from New York. The day she arrived in Halifax the Lieutenant on watch was placed under arrest, and Sir John Comberford, as command-in-chief of the British fleet in North American waters, ordered the organization of a court of inquiry to investigate Captain Hand's management of the Garnet from the time she left Norfolk until her arrival in Halifax, with special instructions to ascertain all the facts of Boyton's midnight torpedo expedition. It is learned from reliable sources that every officer and man on duty on the Garnet while in New York has been or will be examined, and the result submitted to naval headquarters in London, with the probability that Captain Hand and the officer on watch that night will be court-martialed for endangering the safety of the ship by neglecting to take necessary precautions against torpedoes, etc., from Fenian dynamiters or other hostiles.

As far as can be ascertained, the charge is for permitting the parties to go after capturing them, instead of taking them as prisoners on board the ship. The statement is made that "if the sentence on the deck of the Garnet had not been the stupidest men on the boat, Boyton would have been shot as soon as discovered." The result of the court-martial was, the entry on duty at the time Boyton fastened the torpedo has been sentenced to forty-two days confinement, and the decision concerning the Lieutenant has been forwarded to England for approval.

Milwaukee Sentinel, Republican: "It is none of our fight, but in the interests of fair play we feel like standing by the president in his trouble with the spoils-seekers of his party. The president has done the best he could. The complaining democrats should consider that the business of a government affecting more than 60,000,000 of people, in a country stretching thousands of miles in every direction, with transactions involving a carriage business many times larger than that of all the express companies combined; with the supervision of all the liquor and tobacco business of the greatest commercial people on earth; the importations of the most prosperous millions of the world; the supervision of Indians, the maintenance of courts, the control of great territories, the inspection of navigation, etc.—that the business of such a government must necessarily be complex and must require experienced agents for its management. It must take at least four years for a safe change of all the agents who conduct this vast business. If the president should listen to the counsel of the impatient spoils-seekers there would be a huge collapse, and the star of the democracy, which has risen by the aid of the mugwump, would go down in the blackest night."

New York Mail and Express:—Electricity is cheaper than steam where less than 10 horse power is required, and its safety is a much more important consideration. The transmission of power by wires under the streets will permit the removal of thousands of small boilers from buildings in this city, and the substitution of a dynamo for every engine of less than 10 horse power would promote both convenience and safety. It is asserted by electricians that the substitutions would be advantageous even where more power than that of a 10 horse engine is used, and it is not improbable that a great change will be effected in this direction within a few years.

Life in New York is grimly illustrated by the experience of a well-known broker. Two years ago he bought a $250,000 house on Fifth avenue, furnished it handsomely and moved into it. He was President of a mining company. In less than a year he lost his presidency, his mine, his money and his home, and now has a desk in a small room of an obscure lawyer's office on Broadway, and is sought only by his creditors.

The Episcopal Diocesan Convention at Columbia, S. C., last week devoted most of two days to discussing the question whether two well-educated and successful colored clergymen should be admitted to seats in the convention. As one heated delegate put it, "the question was whether this was a white man's convention or not." The exclusive Bourbon element was voted down.

Charles J. Woodbury writes to the New York Evening Post from Wyoming that the people of the territory are tired of woman suffrage, and that the experiment is nearing its end. It seems perfectly easy to get an opinion on any side that is desired regarding this matter.

The trades assembly of Chicago has decided, by an overwhelming vote, not to allow socialists or anarchists, as such, to participate in its annual parade. This indicates a conservative feeling on the part of the workers, and that among their ranks may be found many who will resist the prescribed element.

Today work will be resumed on the pedestal for the Bartholdi statue. It will take about $150,000 more to complete the work, which can be done, if the money is forthcoming, in about three months. Nearly $20,000 yet remain to be raised.

"I am well satisfied with the Administration," said ex-Senator Bartram of Connecticut the other day. "I have got everything I asked for."

Knights of Honor.

The supreme lodge of the Knights of Honor is in session at St. Louis. The grand secretary's report was submitted, and shows that there were on January 1st of this year, 3500 working lodges in the country, with a total membership of 128,848. Since then 25 new lodges have been added, and there has been a net gain of 2300 members, making a present membership of 131,108. During the year of 1884 twenty assemblies were called which yielded an aggregate amount of $2,700,561, and the number of deaths was 1409. The supreme treasurer presented a financial statement which shows that since the last annual meeting there has been received $2,409,636, disbursements $2,264,120, leaving a large balance in the widows' and orphans' fund. The general fund shows receipts of $38,586, expenditures $14,578, and a balance to the credit of this fund of $23,007.

The commencement has been made in Rhode Island, and the Democrats are anxiously looking for more to come. Gen. E. H. Rhodes a non-partisan collector of Internal Revenue in the state has been removed and Charles H. Henshaw of Providence appointed in his place. Gen. Rhodes was a gallant soldier and officer during the Rebellion, and while in the office of Collector has won universal compliment. Mr. Henshaw is a personal friend of President Cleveland, they having formed an intimate acquaintance while both were young men living in Buffalo. Mr. Henshaw is a son of the late Bishop Henshaw, and came to Providence from Baltimore; his birthplace, in 1843, when his father was appointed a Freshman in Brown University, and a graduate of Trinity College, Hartford, in the class of '63. Subsequently he removed to Buffalo, and was in the employ of the United States Express Company, in the office at that city. He took part in the war of the rebellion, having the Captaincy of Company K, One Hundred and sixteenth New York Volunteers, and after 1863 he removed to Providence. He has been for upwards of twenty years connected in business with Mr. George C. Nightingale's mills, and his face is familiar to the business men of the city. He has always voted the Democratic ticket, but except in the Lincoln campaign says that he has not been an "active partisan," taking no other part in political affairs than to cast his vote. Mr. Henshaw is 53 years of age.

Surgeon General Hamilton of the Marine Hospital and service, has returned from a trip to the Southern ports to take precautions against the introduction of epidemic diseases. He finds the Southern cities generally very clean, except New Orleans, and predicts that yellow fever will not be epidemic this year. He fears that more cholera will enter Northern ports unless extra precautions are taken by the health officers.

During Jay Gould's late ocean trip a monster shark followed his yacht for thirty-six hours, and only halted when a note denying that Gould was aboard was tossed over the rail.—[Detroit Free Press.]

Old Sea Captains.

To the Editor of the Newport Mercury:—In the Providence Sunday Telegram of the 17th instant, under the heading "My war-story," a writer says: "The time was, and not many years ago, when one could not count all the whaling ex-captains hereabouts on the fingers of one's hands. But old time, with his far reaching grapple, has cut down one after another of these old sea captains, and now there are only two left—Captains Oliver Potter and John S. DeBolt."

Now this is manifestly incorrect, for in addition to these may be almost daily seen upon our streets, Captains John C. Congdon, Joseph Sherman, and Joseph Thomas, and in order that there shall be no mistake, I will give the names of the ships commanded by them. From Oct. 23, 1833, to May 9th, 1835, Captain Potter, commanded the ship Martha, of New Bedford, from September 8th, 1835, to June 1st, 1837, the Martha, of Newport, and from Oct. 2d, 1837, to April 19th, the same ship, Oct. 20th, 1842, to April 22d, 1846, the brigantine Damon, of Newport, from November 11th, 1846, to May 19th, 1851, the ship Mechanic, of Newport; from Nov. 19th, 1851, to May 31st, 1855, the brigantine Antelope, of Newport; and from October 4th, 1855, to June 10th, 1859, the same vessel.

Capt. John C. Congdon, commanded the ship Alexander O'Brien, of Naanstock, from August 20th, 1836, to July 10th, 1840, and the ship Foster, of the same port, from July 28th, 1841, to September 1st, 1845. Captain Joseph Thomas commanded the ship Liverpool of New Bedford, from June 8th, 1838, to April 7th, 1840, to May 23rd, 1842, and the ship St. George, of New Bedford, (of which he was part owner) from July 11th, 1843, to July 9th, 1847. Capt. Thomas was considered one of the most successful of the New Bedford captains of that time, having brought home on these voyages 637 bbls. of sperm oil, 7131 bbls. whale oil, and in the last voyage 29,332 lbs. bone, all this in about nine years.

Capt. John S. DeBolt, commanded the ship Ann Alexander, of New Bedford, from June 1st, 1830, to August 20th, 1831, when his ship was sunk by a "fighting whale." He commanded the barque Vigilant, of New Bedford, from June 29th, 1832, to July 6th, 1835, and the barque Melina, of New Bedford, from June 25th, 1835, to June 19th, 1839, and again from June 12th, 1850, to August 2d, 1853.

Dr. Doremus on Baking in Food.

In analyzing samples of baking powder purchased by me of a number of grocers in New York City, I find that CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER contains only pure Gump's Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda and a small portion of flour, while the Royal Baking Powder contains in addition thereto, Tartaric Acid and Ammonia. The Ammonia gas is observed not only in the Royal Baking Powder when it is heated, but even in biscuits made therefrom. My examination shows that Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder is better than the Royal Baking Powder, because: 1st. It is compounded of better and more wholesome ingredients. 2d. It yields a larger amount of Carbonic Acid Gas and is a more satisfactory manner, in consequence of which less powder is required to produce light bread material. 3d. It is honestly sold as to weight. The Cleveland cans contained full net weight, while the Royal cans were short weight.

Lime in Cleveland's Baking Powder.

New York, Feb. 2, 1885.
"I have submitted to analysis Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder, and find the same to contain
"TARTARATE OF LIME,
"SULPHATE OF LIME,
in the percentages stated in my report."
"DR. H. A. MOTT, Ph.D."

HOW IT WAS!
At the battle of Gettysburg I was shot through the left leg and was sent to the hospital. The Army surgeons relieved me but pronounced my case incurable. It discharged pieces of bone, and for years I have suffered with a running sore. I tried everything which my limited means would allow, and experienced no relief until I tried Sulphur Sitters. I am now almost well and shall continue their use.—Old Soldier.

Medical Value of Wines.
As a general rule the use of wine is not necessary for young or adult persons in good health, fresh air and exercise being sufficient to keep the system in good order. But in the case of the aged and infirm, and the circulation becomes languid, natural food and wine in moderation, become an essential article and in such cases absolutely necessary, but it must be the pure products of the vine. And even in the Eastern States the physicians make large numbers of stout people, especially women, who cannot digest the food and drinks suited to out-door laboring people. In such cases they resort to the beverage of wine which gives rise to a dyspepsia. The wines produced in New Jersey, especially the Burgundy and the Port Wine, are the most reliable and most sought after by those who have traveled and know what wine is. WM. R. More Than a Million.
NEW ORLEANS, LA.—A supporter of the Times-Democrat, who recently completed a tour of this and neighboring States, visiting every city, town and hamlet, states that he interviewed all the wholesale and retail druggists and storekeepers, as well as transportation companies, with a view of learning the volume of trade in certain articles. The statistics thus gathered show that during the past two years over one million two hundred thousand bottles of St. Jacob's Oil were sold in this section alone, and that this quantity largely exceeds the total combined sales of all other goods of the kind during the same period. He adds that dealers, as well as the public, are unanimous in their praise of the wonderful pain-curing powers of this unsurpassed remedial agent.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

From all Parts of the World.

Through a Trestle.
YALE, B. C., May 17.—The regular mail train, on its way down this morning at 4 o'clock, went through a trestle sixty feet in height. The locomotive and all the cars, except the passenger coach, went into the gully, totally wrecking them and killing the fireman, station, and the brakeman, Piele, instantly. Express Agent C. C. Cullen and Mail Clerk Armstrong were slightly injured. The accident is attributed to recent rains having caused the river to rise, washing away two large beams in the trestle.

Lynchings in Virginia.
LYNCHBURG, Va., May 18.—The excitement caused by the unprovoked murder of T. A. Jeter, by H. W. Terry, at Liberty, on Saturday, received a fresh impulse at the funeral of Jeter at his home in another part of the county, and at 2 o'clock this morning a party of twenty disguised men gained possession of the jail by force and hanged the murderer.

Two Children Drowned.
OHAMA, Neb., May 18.—A water-sport decided upon a ravine near Kearney, Neb., on Friday night, washing a family of emigrants named Scott from their wagon and drowning two children.

The Dolphin's Trial Trip.
NEW YORK, May 18.—When the Dolphin was off Whitehall, L. I., full steam was applied, and for an hour or more the vessel went ahead at a rattling speed. Suddenly there was a slowing down, caused by a heated journal, and then all movement ceased. The third trial trip was also a failure. After floating about on the waters of the sound for five hours, the Dolphin's nose was turned toward New York.

Paul Boyton and the Garret.
HALIFAX, May 18.—The entry on H. M. S. Garret at the time Paul Boyton attached his dummy torpedo to that vessel in New York harbor, has been sentenced to forty-two days confinement. A report on the case of lieutenant on duty at the time will be sent to England.

A $5,000,000 Estate Involved.
QUEBEC, May 20.—An interesting case has just been passed upon by the Court of Appeals here and now goes to the Privy Council. In 1788, Alex. Fraser, of the Hudson Bay Co., married an Indian maiden named Angeline Meadows. The marriage was contracted according to the customs of the country and was devoid of legal ceremony. In 1843 Fraser died intestate, leaving an enormous sum of money; together with much valuable property, yielding many thousands of dollars annually in rents. The litigants in the present case are Wm. Fraser, claiming relationship with Alex. Fraser outside this marriage, and Thomas Jones, who asserts the legality of the marriage and claims to be grandson of Alex. Fraser by the marriage. The Superior Court has upheld the legality of the marriage. The total amount involved will reach $5,000,000.

Fatal Gasometer Explosion.
ST. LOUIS, May 20.—The gasometer of the St. Louis Gas Light Company exploded to-day instantly killing two employees of the company, and seriously injuring others.

A Powder Magazine Tragedy.
LONDON, May 20.—A sentry at the Upper Castle powder magazine at Chatham, who went on duty at four o'clock this morning, was found dead at his post two hours later. Beside him lay a revolver, and a bullet had passed through his lungs. The sentry on post 300 yards away says he heard no report of a pistol or gun. The doctors who have examined the corpse do not believe that the sentry committed suicide.

Bad Haves are Created.
Among the temptations to allow impurities to collect upon their surface or in their interstices, SOZODONT removes every vestige of tartar from the teeth, and renders their premature decay impossible. It not only imparts to them whiteness and vigor, but communicates hardness and resilience to the gums. The breath acquires a most agreeable fragrance from the use; it is a purely botanical liquid, and it may be relied on to accomplish the beautifying effects without injuring the enamel like a gritty tooth paste.

Gladstone prefers cheese to artichokes.

Grand opening of our new store, 154 Thames St., on Wednesday, May 13, with an almost entirely new stock of fancy goods. We shall eclipse all our previous efforts

by placing before the public the most remarkable bargains ever known in the history of the city. We do not hesitate in saying that our study for several weeks past has been to secure bargains for our opening in our new store,

and all we ask of the ladies of Newport that have so liberally patronized us during our stay here to pay us a friendly visit and convince themselves that we mean what we say. Comparison of prices will place us in the right light.

We mean to lead all competitors at home and in larger cities. Our motto is not to put out cheap made goods at a price, but to give to our customers such merchandise as will give satisfaction at the most reasonable prices. A great mark out of such goods can now be found on our counters. Bargains! bargains!

and special bargains! in every department. Our new store has been renovated and newly fitted out; we have enlarged

the windows so as to make it light and pleasant for our business, and it will be appreciated by our patrons as one of the nicest fancy goods stores in the state. A continued patronage by the public will be met by our best efforts to please all.

Respectfully,

MANHOOD

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. F. M. Verwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure of Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotence, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy, and Pile, induced by self-indulgence, or sexual extravagance, etc. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, fully demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

TESTIMONIALS:

TRON, N. Y., Aug. 12, 1884.

S. B. ARCHER—Dear Sir: I have suffered from Nervous Sick-Headache all my life. Nothing gave me relief until I tried Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription for Sick-Headache. I have used it for the past five years and it works like a charm. Very truly yours,

JOHN N. FLEASBY, with W. H. Frear.

522 River street, Troy, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1884.

S. B. ARCHER—Dear Sir: For over twenty years I have been troubled with sick headache having an attack every two weeks which confined me to my bed for two or three days at a time, and I have been unable to do anything but rest. I have not been troubled with it since I used Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription about a year ago. Since then I have had but one attack, and that was caused by overwork and anxiety over the sick child of my daughter. I can therefore heartily recommend it to all afflicted with headache. Yours very truly,

CHARLOTTE PETRY.

522 River street, Troy, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1884.

S. B. ARCHER—Dear Sir: In reply to your asking whether I had any more trouble with headache will say that I have not been troubled with it in all the 15 years, and that my general health has greatly improved, and I feel that I owe it all to Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription. Yours very truly, Seaboard Among the Mariners—Attending Church in Tombes—Customs of the People—Only One Whole Added to the Mold.

27th.—Sunday afternoon was passed on shore in company with Capt. and Mrs. Marshall. Went on board the Aurora and took tea. Returned home by a very beautiful moonlight. I pray God that we may not have missed this day by doing as we have done.

28th.—Very delightful weather.

29th.—The Captain, steward, boy and myself went ashore and spent the day at the Mall's entertainment. Went part of the way to meet the boys bringing in Tarrapin, and very fatiguing they must find bringing such heavy loads over so rough a way.

30th.—Spent the day at the Aurora's company.

Oct. 1st.—Got up at three o'clock to go home to the dear old Mother, where we safely arrived at seven o'clock in time for breakfast.

2d.—Enjoyed a delightful night's rest, and feel quite rested from the fatigue endured on shore. Have concluded the ship is the best place to rest in.

3d.—Took up our anchor to-day and we are going East. In the afternoon saw the Aurora making among whales, and we lowered our boats and pursued until night but without success.

4th.—Sunday. Spent the day in reading.

5th.—Saw a whale about six miles off before breakfast. Went ashore and sent the officers down to breakfast. Came near enough to the whale to see the boat. Mr. Kempton, Mr. Ross and Mr. Danwell lowered and pursued until 10 o'clock. At this time the Captain came down from the mast-head and lowered his boat. After a time he came back to the ship and went out to look for the whale, saw them again, then lowered and took a whale. Mr. Kempton fastened to one but got frightened and cut from him. Captain ate nothing all day. He got badly bruised while in the boat, and all his clothes wet. It was terribly rough.

6th.—Outing in the whale. Trying to come up with others. Commenced boiling the oil.

7th.—Finished boiling. Saw a bark towards evening.

8th.—Watch employed in various duties. Ship standing Eastward and looking for whales. One sail in sight. Three men "off duty."

9th.—Ship standing east. At 2 o'clock spoke the bark Wave of New Bedford, Capt. Hill, 14 months out, 70 bbls. humpback oil on board. Capt. Hill brought us a half bill of sweet potatoes, a pair of onions and two pumpkins. A great treat for us who have been without for so long a time.

10th.—Commenced with light winds and pleasant weather. Bark Wave in sight.

11th.—Sunday. Spent most of the day in my house on deck and very pleasantly. But should esteem it a great privilege to attend church once more.

12th.—Cloudy weather. Not well to day.

13th.—Very much as yesterday. Bad headache.

14th.—Still cloudy. They have been unable to get an observation for several days. Captain thinks we must be near Tombes.

15th.—Bark Ansonia in sight. Husband went on board of her hoping to get an orange for me, but they had none.

16th.—Anchored off Tombes at quarter past eight last evening. A man came from Capt. Eldridge's ship and said that Mrs. E. had gone up to the town. It was so pleasant that Captain thought I had better go on shore with him. We started about seven, and never did I enjoy myself more than in going up that delightful river, smooth as a mirror, so narrow that you could see anything where on either side, the tide so low that you could see the roots of the trees. Then the shadows of the many shades of green looked so soft that I thought no painter could imitate them. I saw cove-nant trees, bananas, oranges, mangoes, tamarind and lime trees, and at great quantity of sugar cane. The humming of insects and singing of birds was truly delightful to ears long unaccustomed to such pleasant sounds. We met a boat coming from the town in which were Capt. and Mrs. Coffin and Capt. and Mrs. Eldridge. The latter invited me to come on board and spend the evening. We arrived at the elegant city of Tombes, about 10 o'clock and saw Captains Clarke Wood, Pease, Gifford and Dexter. Went to Lamont's and dined, walked a little and then started for home. Shortly after getting back to the ship a boat came from Mr. E. so we went on board, took tea and spent a very pleasant evening. The same Captain was there that we had met at Tombes. Returned to the Merit about ten o'clock and made a bed in the after cabin for Mr. S.

17th.—This morning before I awoke Capt. Clarke came to make his adieu. He sails to-day. Capt. DeBols went ashore on business, but I entertained a great many visitors. At evening he came back, and with him came Capt. Euston and took tea. We had a delightful time in our house on deck.

18th.—Sunday. Rose bright and early. Captain Eldridge came to breakfast and to escort me to church. Going across the bar it was very rough. The breakers came into the boat. Capt. E. held his nice white linen coat to shield me from the water, but we all got more or less wet, but did not feel as badly as one of the M's boats with liberty men did. They came near upsetting. We rode on horseback from the landing to the town, a distance of 3 miles. This was my first attempt, and my husband on one side and Captain E. on the other, prevented my having any fears, although it was very slippery on some of the steep banks occasioned by rain the night before, but this rain saved us from sunburns from dust. On arriving at Lamont's we found the house in great confusion. They were taking down one of the glass shades suspended from the ceiling by a rope, gathering together all the vases, glass dishes, looking glasses, pictures, curtains, and indeed almost everything which they considered ornamental to carry to the church as it was a Fast Day. Then the young ladies were being dressed for the occasion, and never did bride spend more time and pains on her personal appearance than they. They have beautiful heads of hair "black as the raven's wing," wound round and round on the back of the head, and in this was twisted a small purple flower and green leaves. These ladies were sky blue satin dresses, with three rows of deep flange around the skirt, very low necks, very short sleeves, with no collar or underclothes, but their arms covered with magnificent bracelets. Immense mantillas of blue satin flowered with white. Then much large black lace veils thrown over their heads and trailing on the floor unless held up. There were fastenings with black silk velvet bows and long streamers. No gloves, but fingers liberally covered with rings. Bracelets on the left side of the neck and in the centre as well as on the right. Then such elegant pearls and tassels.

embroidered handkerchiefs, etc. While in the house small servants attended to holding up these trains, but on the way to church they swept the streets. They insisted on my carrying one of their elegant green and black shawls and also one of their parasols. I selected one of the palest. It was white silk embroidered with every color of the rainbow, and having a large bow on top. At the ringing of a bell and firing of a cannon away we went through a file of soldiers, into the church which looked like a flower bed, so many flowers had been sent there. Some of the servants of the household, whose names I forgot, carried mate and spread for us to kneel on in the centre of the church, for this is the family of the most noble in Tombes, and they occupy the most conspicuous seat of course. I watched them and marveled accordingly. Our parasols were laid down before us, and then amidst the roaring of cannons, firing of small arms, and the music of drums and fiddles the service began. I could not help jumping when the cannons spoke. They were so near that the smoke would sometimes come in and mingle with the incense. When the priest was changing his garments, some one came around with some very sweet smelling flowers cut up very fine, and each person took a pinch and put it in her handkerchief. I did so too but did not understand why. On reaching home I inquired the meaning of it and was told "to make small sweet too much." At the close of the service the brother came along and caught up our parasols. On arriving at the door we found him ready to press each of us with our parasol already opened. Breakfast was served at twelve, consisting of soup, soup, rice dressed several ways, fried eggs garnished with onions and garlic, and roast beef flavored with the same. For dessert, chocolate made so rich and sweet that you cannot take much. Biscuits, etc. finished this meal. The Commandant, Captain of the Port, and a functionary from Guayaquil were present, and such a chatter of Spanish I never heard. Company continually arriving all the afternoon. At five o'clock was the grand dinner which lasted until church time. In the meantime the ladies had changed their dresses several times. This evening they were pink satin and dress with pink crapes shawls so large that they swept the ground as did also their dresses. Just before the church was closed there was a little fat baby presented for baptism. It was a little rain down with bands of gold about four inches wide around the skirt "stiff as a poker." Then such a head-dress! Shaped like the Witch of Endor's cap and loaded with trimming. The eldest daughter of Lamont was Godmother and her brother the Godfather. One held its poor little head the other its feet. It was very quiet and smiling at first, but to many people, light and flimsy of gums made it very before they got through. The priest stopped every few minutes to interpret for me, or rather to tell me to do so. He was very pleasant and sociable but I pitied the poor lady so much that I am afraid I did not rightly appreciate his condescension. When all this was over and I had put on the lady's hideous cap and shawl and had the priest, behold a babe of a few hours was presented for the rite. It was brought in by a servant, (the mother being too ill to admit of the father's leaving her), who positively did not know the sex of the child. Here was a dilemma not easily got over. But the priest ordered the young lady (Godmother) to raise its garments and the assistant put his hand under it and in a loud voice pronounced it "an homie." So the ceremony went on, and at the close the priest told me it was now one Christiana, his heart was blue, he was all same as God. We went home for the night, as I thought, but found the ladies dressing for another party that was not put down in the performance, having put on light beige dresses and smaller crapes shawls. We were told that it was expected of us to make our compliments to the parents of the baptized child, and it would be against religion to refuse as they were poor. So Capt. E. and I, husband and myself determined to see it out and went with the multitude. On arriving, we found the street full before the door, the house almost full, but seats were soon obtainable for us, being of the Lamonts party. Here was a grand supper spread out on the table in the centre of the room, but the number was so great it was decided that the gentlemen should wait on us first, that is our party which consisted of twelve. Fowls all trimmed with crimson ribbons, and equally as lamb, calves, pigs, cordials, wines, and a great many articles too numerous to mention were offered us. I found that it was the custom if a gentleman wished to do the polite to a lady, he carried his piece of cake to her to take off a nip. Blue eyes found this out and was willing to communicate the same to me, so I was prepared when the Commandants came to me to take a nip. When this was over I saw the Lamonts giving money to the mother of the baby, a pretty little girl, so Blue slipped some money into my hand and I did the same. All the Captains made their compliments so I think the lady had quite a benefit. It appears that all that was on the table, china, glass and eatables were presented or loaned to them, and the Commandants furnished the wines, cordials, etc. They had a very nice cold called "Choules," made, I am told, of peapants and rice and sweetened. After getting home they concluded the Sabbath with dancing, singing comic songs, and playing the guitar.

19th.—My little "sailor" is really out of his element here. I took him out shopping with me. At ten o'clock went to church again. When I got home, I found "sailor," quite sick, took him to my room, and kept him quiet until some one should come to carry him to the ship. Mr. Danzell called about two o'clock, and brought me oranges and "sour sop" and offered to carry my "darling pet" on board. Went to make some calls in the afternoon, saw some elegant needle work at one house. Came home to dinner, and in the evening called at the "couple's," with Captain Gifford and Easton. The Consul's wife is very pretty and polite, and she has three sweet children, they can dance the "Spanish Dance," to perfection while their mother plays the guitar. She cannot speak English, but seems very sweet and pleasant. Went home and finished the evening with rest.

20th.—Rose early, had my house brought to the dock, took care of the only members of the family stirring, and wound my way in company with Captains Gifford and Easton, to the half-way-house, where we had coffee and biscuits, then took the boat to the ship. After landing the captain at their respective ships, I repeat the afternoon very pleasantly. Found my little "sailor" quite recovered. Seward gave me a pine apple.

21st.—Husband gone ashore. Two ships came to anchor—Lucas left. "Bark" "Helen Mar" of New Bedford, Captain Worth; and "Hesper" of Fairbank, Capt. Stevens. Toward evening the bark "Mary Ann" of New Bedford came in and anchored.

22d.—Captain came on board right early, with him came Mr. Samuels. So many people, it is all confusion here. Made of the "Helen Mar," came to bring me some beautiful apple a present from Captain Worth.

NEVER LOSES STRENGTH.

Royal Baking Powder always Fresh, Pure, and Wholesome.

It has been found by both practical and chemical tests that most of the baking powders, although they may possess a considerable amount of strength when first made, lose their leavening power, and become worthless, when a few weeks old. As is well known, the leavening gas of a baking powder is produced by the action of an acid upon an alkali, and this action is brought about through the influence of moisture. When, therefore, through imperfect processes of manufacture, the water, which is always present in the ingredients from which they are compounded, is permitted to remain in the finished baking powders, it causes the action of their elements to set in at once, so that when they come to be used they are found to have lost their strength to an extent corresponding with their age.

As the housekeeper has no means of knowing, when buying baking powder from the shelf of the grocer, how long it has been made and its consequent strength, some of the tests made by the Government chemists, showing the difference in strength between the same brands when fresh and when old, are given. From three to eight per cent of water was found in all the fresh samples except 'Royal.' To this fact, together with their imperfect combination, is to be attributed the loss of strength shown in all other grades.

Name.	Cubic inches of leavening gas per ounce of powder.	When fresh.	When not fresh.
Royal Baking Powder (absolutely pure).....	127.4	128.9	72.3
Patasco (alum).....	125.2	72.3	72.3
Horsford's (Phosphate).....	125.5	72.3	72.3
Hanford's.....	121.6	84.3	72.3
Charm (alum).....	116.9	68.05	72.3
Cleveland's (contains lime).....	110.8	81.2	72.3
Dr. Price's.....	103.3	53.05	72.3
Bulk baking powder.....	75.	5.	72.3

* This sample, from the shelf of a retail grocer, was over five years' old.

The remarkable fact apparent from the above is the perfect keeping quality of Royal Baking Powder, which it was found had practically retained its strength or leavening power, while all others had lost so much of their leavening gas as to be comparatively valueless.

This great superiority of Royal Baking Powder arises from the perfect purity of its ingredients, the extraordinary care in its manufacture, and the scientific principles employed in its combination. The articles used are thoroughly dried by heat before being compounded, by which the moisture is entirely expelled, and are so prepared and coated as to prevent the action of the acid upon the alkali prematurely, or except under the influence of both water and heat necessarily used in cooking or baking.

The Royal Baking Powder will retain its full strength for any length of time in all climates and under all conditions of atmosphere, and will be found, whenever used, to possess the full leavening power it contained when first made.

PORTSMOUTH.

Resolutions adopted by the Christian Church upon the death of Lewis J. Thurston.

WIDOWS.—It has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from our midst our late brother Lewis J. Thurston, who for several years has been a most faithful member of the Executive Board of this Church, and has also filled other official positions in a most consistent and exemplary manner. It is therefore, Resolved, That we sincerely mourn the loss of so worthy a member, who by his upright Christian life, and tireless devotion to the Church and cause, will be sorely missed from our circle.

Resolved, That we tender our sincere sympathy to the family of the deceased. It is further Resolved, That we forward a copy of these resolutions to the family of our late brother, and also that they be recorded upon our Church books, and published in the Newport Mercury.

On Wednesday, Mr. Freeborn Albro's sheep were visited by dogs, the result was two fine spring lambs, that were nearly ready for market, were killed.

Mr. Belmont's "Oakland Farm" was visited the same day by dogs, and two noble sheep badly bitten, one a fine buck costing some $175. Probably both will die.

Freeborn Albro was visited again on Thursday, and another sheep killed.

NEW ENGLAND ITEMS.

RHODE ISLAND.

The credit of Rhode Island was indicated by the recent sale in New York, at a premium of twenty-three per cent, of six per cent. bonds of the State, which have nine years to run. The bonds were issued to pay expenses incurred in subduing the rebellion.

Another Rhode Island newspaper has got a libel suit on its hands. This time it is the Rhode Island Citizen, published at Olneyville, which has been saying some hard things concerning William A. Carroll, the Town Sergeant of Johnston, for which Mr. Carroll claims damages.

Jesse V. B. Watson has been appointed auditor of the accounts of the town of South Kingstown, vice Asa F. Gardner resigned.

Dr. Gould of Adamsville, R. I. visited Westport Point Monday, and left his horse standing in the vicinity of the dock. The animal became frightened and ran off the dock into the bay and was drowned. The turnout was valued at $900.

The present is an unusual dull season for Providence. Business shows little if any sign of a revival. The cotton goods manufacturers as well as the machinists and jewellers, are, in the majority of cases, scarcely paying expenses, while the wholesale and retail grocers complain of a very dull trade, and the vegetable and fruit dealers say that owing to the backwardness of the season their business is far from satisfactory.

The old Washington bridge at Watchemoket is again open to heavy travel.
